--------	------------------------------------	--

Introduction to Arabic Culture: This course covers the five pillars of Islam, Islamic holidays, Islamic religious customs, and significant Islamic names. It explains how to use knowledge of Middle-Eastern culture and customs in interviewing and interrogating, along with recognizing and understanding Middle-Eastern clothing, Muslim/Arabic name analysis and Arabic words to utilize during interviews and interrogations for officer safety.

Financial Investigations and Terrorism Funding: This presentation examines law enforcement methodology for obtaining information from the banking industry, conducting a financial criminal investigation, and preparing a source and application of funds to use for forfeiture warrants and search warrants. This presentation also includes an overview of Iraq's financial infrastructure and what law enforcement can learn from Iraq's tactics to conceal bank accounts intended for illegal activities.

Recognizing Terrorist Indicators and Warning Signs: This overview provides a comprehensive look at warnings and indicators, with an emphasis on integrating terrorism intelligence into traditional criminal investigations. It explores how to identify early warning signs often exhibited by criminal extremist groups and individuals. Information sharing is a key component of the presentation.

Preventing Terrorism Through Imposter Detection & Fraudulent ID Training: This course provides a familiarization with identity theft as it relates to criminal and terrorist acts, with an understanding of how criminals and terrorists use fraudulent identification. It presents a description and demonstration of security features used on driver's licenses, U.S. passports and Permanent Resident Cards, and other federal documents. It provides information regarding the detection of impostors by utilizing facial recognition techniques.
